RVM Offers Affordable Way To Simplify The Discovery Process

NEW YORK, January 4, 2017 – RVM Enterprises, Inc., a leader in providing advanced eDiscovery technical solutions to corporations and law firms, is proud to announce that it now offers Eclipse the web-based review component on Ipro's integrated workflow platform called Automated Digital Discovery (ADD). RVM is employing Eclipse's analytics capabilities including Technology Assisted Review and ADD workers for fully automated processing. By using the applications within the ADD platform, data can be automatically copied, processed, filtered and loaded into Eclipse allowing data to be reviewed quickly; providing fully interactive Early Case Assessment capability.

"By utilizing components of Ipro's ADD platform with Eclipse, we can offer clients a more affordable way to process, track, review and produce evidence," said Geoffrey Sherman, Chief Technology Officer of RVM.

"We are honored to be a part of the long-term growth strategy at RVM," said Geoff Schmidt, Ipro's Regional Vice President. "By leveraging the ADD platform, RVM will be able to simplify the discovery process while passing along savings to their customers."

With its long history of serving a diverse corporate clientele with expansive global operations and eDiscovery demands, RVM remains dedicated to innovation to address the ever-changing business models in today's legal and corporate environments.
